Meet Past Recipients

PAUL “ANDY”, 2006 RECIPIENT

Andy was born in southern California to a Hispanic family lacking education or opportunity. Andy and his sister lived with their mother, who suffered from mental illness. As a result, the family struggled with poverty, homelessness, and impulsive moving. Eventually, Andy and his sister were placed in foster care until his father was awarded custody and moved them to Mexico to live with him. Andy did well in school, and in 8th grade, he was accepted into the Better Chance Program and moved to Rochester to finish his education. Following high school, Andy pursued his dream of becoming an Architect at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

MARY, 2008 RECIPIENT

Mary was born in Sudan and lived with her parents and brother until the family’s life was shattered by the war. The rebel forces captured her father to fight in the war and he was ultimately killed after repeated attempts to escape. Her mother was then seized by rebel forces on suspicion of aiding her husband, and she was tortured and killed as well. A neighbor rescued Mary and her brother and they were taken in by her grandmother. However, with the perilous conditions in Sudan, Mary and her brother would not be safe. An uncle took the children to the United States to provide them with a more secure home. Living in Fargo, North Dakota, Mary faced discrimination and came to hate school. It was not until moving to Rochester that Mary began to feel at home and embraced the education available to her. Mary attended Century High School and participated in RCTC’s Upward Bound Program. After graduation, Mary planned to pursue a career in healthcare in order to return to Sudan and help others.

JENNIE, 2011 RECIPIENT

When Jennie was merely fifteen years old, she was raped and nearly killed while walking home from work. Following the tragic incident, Jennie coped with the physical and emotional pain that ensued, contemplating suicide more than once. Yet Jennie did not succumb to the deep scars and psychological trauma of the event. She testified against her attacker, playing an important role in putting him away for the rest of his life. Recognizing the impact of her story, Jennie has realized that she can make a difference in the lives of other victims of crime by pursuing a career as a Crime Victims’ Advocate and motivational speaker. A graduate of John Marshall, Jennie began her educational journey at Augsburg College.

Sandy, 2009 Beat the Odds Recipient
Beat the Odds is a scholarship and fundraising program that celebrates high school seniors who have faced considerable challenges and obstacles in their young lives, yet have achieved personal and academic success. The purpose of the program is to raise awareness to the struggles of many youth in our community and recognize their ability to overcome difficulties.

Despite significant odds, such as personal or family hardships, disabilities, poverty, neglect, chemical dependency or language and cultural barriers, these individuals have persevered and begun a path of personal achievements. As their path leads them toward higher education, they are provided with a $2,500 scholarship to the accredited college of their choice.

Besides recognizing these inspiring young students, Beat the Odds also pays tribute to the adults who detected the struggles and reached out with encouragement, advice, resources and support.

Beat the Odds was founded by the Children's Defense Fund and was brought to the RCTC Foundation by Senator Sheila Kiscaden in 2000. Since its inception, our Beat the Odds has provided $163,000 in scholarships to over 100 students. Proceeds from the event not only provide these inspiring students with scholarships, they also benefit the Children’s Defense Fund of Minnesota and supply the RCTC Foundation with resources to administer scholarships and support RCTC programs.
