

Occupational and Professional Demand

For a variety of technician positions (biological, environmental science, conservation), an Associate's degree will qualify a student for potential employment. However, often additional schooling is needed or necessary to more successfully compete for open positions.

Environmental Science Related Careers

Most Common Education Level

Occupation	Degree
Biological Technician	Associate of Science (AS)
Conservation Technician	AS
Environmental Science Tech / Specialist	AS / Master of Science (MS)
Environmental Engineering Technician	AS
Conservation Scientist	Bachelor of Science (BS)
Forester	BS
Soil/Plant Scientist	BS
Natural Science Manager	BS
Zoologist / Wildlife Biologist	BS
Biology/Environmental Science Educator	BS
Hydrologist	BS / MS